(CT:CON-337; 06-28-2010)

The Federal Voting Assistance Program (FVAP) is required by law to conduct a survey after every Presidential election, and to send the results to the White House and Congress. FVAP generally surveys six groups: local election officials in the United States, military voting assistance officers (VAOs), State Department VAOs, military personnel in the United States and abroad, and Federal civilian employees and private Americans abroad. VAOs are strongly encouraged to participate in the VAO survey and provide critical feedback to the Federal Voting Assistance Program Office at the Department of Defense (DOD) on the FVAP Web site, as well as to the Department of State's Chief Voting Action Officer (CA/OCS/ACS/AF). VAOs may also be asked to assist in sample selection or distribution of the survey for private Americans abroad.
